OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

FOR THE PAST THREE weeks this column has been turned out by three prominent local citizens, Bob Stephens, city manager; Neal Royer, school superintendent and CofC president; and Dale Scott, Campbell planning commissioner, taxpayer association executive director and probable candidate for the County Assessor office next year.

Although we thoroughly enjoy our weekly chats with you via this column, we also enjoyed our vacation.

We have a hunch that you probably appreciated the noticeable change of pace in this column during the past few weeks.

All three pieces were informative, which cannot always be said about our output.

Thanks again, Bob, Neal and Dale.

But stand by.

This vacation thing hasn't worn off yet.

It has always been our contention that the only bad feature about any vacation is that it comes to a grinding halt just as one is getting accustomed to a different way of life.

But, as our Dorothy has so aptly put it from time to time, it seems that we have never had much trouble getting accustomed to loafing.

She's right, too, you know.

We do it so well we would like to do it on a full-time basis.

But there is one thing that stands in our way.

And a guy does have to eat.

TENDER CARE - - - -

Recently as we swung by Campbell Memorial Chapel on Campbell Ave., we observed John Faber carefully watering the flowers in front of the funeral home, a job generally done by a regular gardener.

John, noted for his pixie sense of humor, probably would have had some pertinent remark to pass onto us had we stopped to chat.

Something about the flowers seemed to be looking peaked and wilted which would never do at John's establishment.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO with a 100-year-old headstone, if you looked out one morning and found that during the night some pranksters had deposited one on your front lawn?

That happened to a long-time friend of ours, Roger Smith, dean of boys in the Campbell High School district.

Having a grave-marker in one's front yard is bad enough but to complicate matters even more, Roger has been unable to locate from what cemetery it came.

The stone shows that the person whose grave it could have marked, died May 21, 1868 but Roger said that county records of cemeteries don't go back that far.

He lugged it into his backyard where it still remains, a conversation piece that Roger would be happy to do without.

That is, if he only knew what to do with it.

You can't go around packing a head-stone just anywhere.

You know that.

VERY SOON NOW THE city councilmen will have to decide just what type of architectural styling the new city hall will have.

Quite naturally that is a difficult decision to make.

We assume, that with five councilmen looking over the sketches that are being prepared by Bill Hedley, local architect, there must be at least five different viewpoints.

And, we wouldn't be a bit surprised that the councilmen may be also getting some coaching from their wives,

Rincon overpass gets o.k.

With the expressed hope that the long-delayed pedestrian overpass at Rincon Ave. would be in place by the start of the school term in the fall of 1970, the City Council on Monday by a 4-1 vote approved the county design for the project.

The county expects to ask for bids by May 1.

The overpass will be constructed jointly by the county, the City of San Jose, the City of Campbell and the school district. The county will pay one-half of the estimated $100,000 cost ($50,000), Campbell picks up the tab for $25,000 and San Jose and the school district, $12,500 each.

This is the second plan that has been designed. The first one when it went to bid exceeded the $100,000 figure. County engineers hope that the new plan will stay within the estimate. Campbell's money for the project comes from the bonds that were approved by the citizens in Oct., 1967.

Councilman Bill Smeed voted against approval because he felt that a better design could have been presented by the county.

In another action Monday night, the Council approved

Board calls FLE moratorium

A moratorium was declared in the Family Life Education battle currently raging in the Campbell Elementary School District, when the district Board of Trustees announced Thursday evening that further study was needed before a decision could be reached.

A parent from each school will be appointed to study the subject material in cooperation with the committee already working on the controversial course study, with a report to be made to the board members in June. After the report is studied the board may or may not decide upon whether Family Life Education will be a part of the school curriculum or not.

No courses in FLE will be taught in Campbell Union School District during the remainder of the school year.

A pilot program was conducted in the school district during the spring semester last year and parent observations were made at that time, with recommendations being made as to the course study to the board. Two well-attended meetings have been held at which time interested parents were able to express their reasons for wanting the program included or excluded for the district schools.

City employee buys 'LID' bonds

A city employee on Monday night really "got a piece of the action" of the city. Fiscally speaking, that is.

Mrs. Madeline Atkinson was the successful bidder for a $16,518.71 bond issue for the financing of Local Improvement District No. 20, (Sunnyside - Kennedy street improvement).

Mrs. Atkinson, junior accountant in the city's finance department, had the best offer of the three bids submitted. Interest offered in her bid was 6.8130% compared to 6.875% and 6.9826% in the bids of her competition, two prominent investment firms.

LID No. 20 is comprised of the property owners in the Sunnyside-Kennedy area who are paying for one-third of the improvement cost for the streets with the city picking up two-thirds of the cost.

Hurley retires as postmaster

Postmaster James (Jim) Hurley, who has served as top man of the Campbell post office since Oct. 12, 1963, announced this week that he is retiring from the postal service effective next Saturday, Nov. 1.

His last day on the job will be Friday.

Dick Adams, assistant postmaster here for more than 10 years, and with more than 20 years of postal service, will probably serve as officer-in-charge of the local office as interim postmaster until the review board selects a new chief. There is no indication as to when a new appointment will be made.

Hurley, 63, who has lived in the Campbell area since 1946, has 30 years of service with the postal department. One of the big factors in deciding to retire at this time, Hurley said, was because of a new federal law which allows him to take advantage of retirement benefits that were not available before.

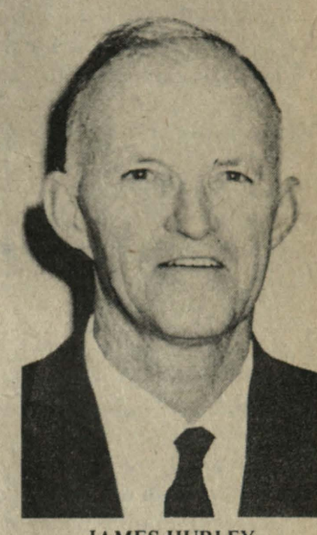
Hurley, who succeeded Mrs. Ellis Litynsky as postmaster, had been employed in the San Jose post office since 1946 when he received the appointment as Campbell postmaster.

Mrs. Litynsky became postmaster on March 31, 1957, succeeding the late Ira Grim (father of Planning Commissioner Merrill Grim) who had been the Campbell postmaster for 22 years.

It was during Mrs. Litynsky's tenure of office that the post office moved from its crowded quarters on E. Campbell Ave. to the present building that had been constructed for it on Latimer Ave.

Hurley and his wife, Rita, a long-time employee of the County Health Department, have resided at 1143 El Solyo Ave. since 1946. They have two children, James and Paula.

The retiring postmaster was born in Pennsylvania and came to California, settling in the Bay Area, in 1929. After his four-year army stint, he went to work for the San Jose post office in 1946. He had one year of prior postal service before his army hitch.



JAMES HURLEY
--postmaster retires

Hurley has been active in community and church affairs for many years. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Optimist Club and served as finance chairman of the citizens committee that directed the successful passage of the city park bond issue in June of this year.

He is a member of the Bishop O'Dowd Council of the Knights of Columbus and has been active in organizations of St. Lucy's Church since the parish was first formed.

St. Lucy's plans huge parish dinner Nov. 6 at fairgrounds

A dinner, designed to gather together all of the members of St. Lucy's parish under one roof, is being scheduled for 7 p.m. on Nov. 6. All 2400 adults and members over the age of 18 are being personally contacted to attend the dinner which will be held at the Pavilion Hall at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds.

The dinner is part of the concentrated effort of St. Lucy's to plan for the future of the parish as well as a search for talents which may be used to help the church reach all of the people and awaken their social concern with the parish growth. This will be the first time that all of the members of the parish will be gathered under one roof at one time.

A roast beef dinner will be catered in order that all of the parish members may take part in the program without concerning themselves in serving and cleaning up.

Ed Grossheider is serving as general chairman for the mass dinner with Mrs. Ralph Doetsch directing the efforts of the 100 hostesses who are confirming reservations with all registered parish members.

Speakers for the affair will be John Morgan, Campbell Chief of Police; John G. Matthews, attorney and John Nalty, all members of St. Lucy's.

Ample free parking will be provided at the fairgrounds.

Landlocked now —

Council split vote favors apartments for theater parcel

Acting on the ruling of the city attorney that in adopting a land use plan for an area, it is not necessary to be concerned whether access to the property is available, the City Council Monday night by a 3-2 vote specified high density zoning for the landlocked parcel adjacent to the Winchester Drive-in theater.

The six-acre parcel owned by the theater is now zoned R-3-S, which prohibits the third screen wanted by the theater. The Council's action upheld the Planning Commission which also designated the parcel for high density development.

But Councilman Bill Smeed, also an attorney, vigorously opposed City Attorney Bonacina's ruling. Smeed claimed that the Council was merely postponing the inevitable, for access to Union Ave. would be necessary before any apartments could be constructed on the property, he pointed out.

But Bonacina maintained that would be a zoning matter and was not involved in the land use plan before the Council.

Incorporated with the adoption of the land use plan were three drawings which showed that access to the landlocked parcel could be possible, provided approval was obtained.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch voted with Smeed and Councilman Ed Rogers, and Dean Chamberlin and Mayor Homer

Parking pains

Police Chief John Morgan was directed by a 3-2 vote of the City Council Monday night to continue to investigate ways and means for more stringent enforcement of on-street parking violations by West Valley College students.

Requesting the judge raise the fine from $2 to $5 for violators, however, was not what most of the councilmen indicated they wanted. They seemed to prefer more frequent patrolling by the police.

Voting for the continued investigation were Bill Smeed, Ralph Doetsch and Mayor Homer Hyde. Opposed were Ed Rogers and Dean Chamberlin.

Council sustains staff in "underground" hassle

Campbell's City Council on Monday night, by a divided vote, slapped the wrists of PG&E for that utility's alleged failure to cooperate with the city over a two-year period in undergrounding utilities in a proposed development on Hamilton Ave. across from Rosemary School.

The Council's action by a 3-2 vote sustained the unsuccessful efforts of a frustrated city engineering staff, as reported by Bill Wren and Frank Lewis, to carry out the established city policy for undergrounding utilities in that particular project.

Wren and Lewis, with the aid of a bulky correspondence file which emphasized how uncommunicative PG&E had been in the matter during the past two years, reviewed the problem from the beginning, two years ago when the development was approved.

The matter had come to a head when Lowell Grattan, developer of the project, who had agreed two years ago to go underground in his development, requested that his property be serviced from a new pole that had been recently installed by PG&E on the east end of Hamilton, instead of the pole on Llewellyn, as originally planned.

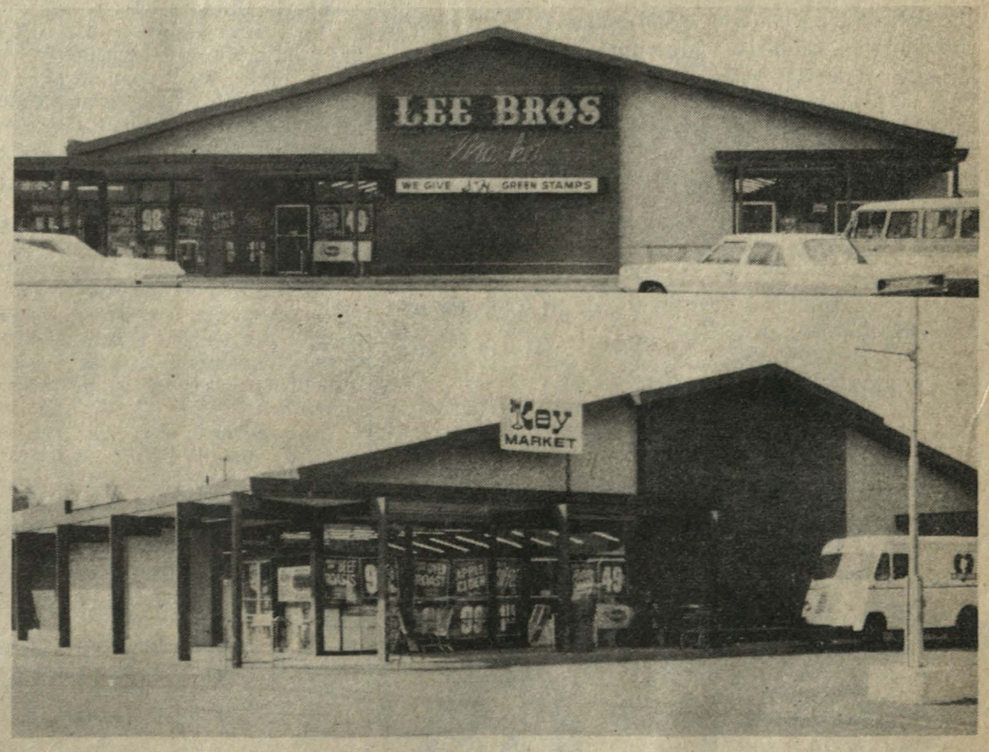
The pole placed on Hamilton which now serves but one house, was contrary to the desires of the city, according to the engineering staff. They wanted to eliminate the lines across Hamilton. Ray Gable, of PG&E, who was present, denied that the upgrading of this pole was an unnecessary action.

Prior to the upgrading, staff members pointed out, Grattan's development could not be served by the pole.

Involved also was the delay by PG&E in submitting a definite cost estimate to Grattan for undergrounding. Original rough estimates set the figure at $5,000 which Grattan claimed was too expensive. PG&E estimate now calls for $3,800.

The motion to sustain the city staff was made by Bill Smeed. Voting with him were Ed Rogers and Mayor Homer Hyde. Opposed were Ralph Doetsch and Dean Chamberlin.

Key Market opening features gala auto show, "crazy auction"



CHANGES MADE---Key Market is now the name of the former Lee Bros. Market in the Campbell Shopping Center at Winchester and Latimer. This weekend a gala opening is planned for the new market which features an auto show Friday, Saturday and Sunday, as well as a "crazy auction" on Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Wild Bill Flores, alias the "crazy auctioneer", will auction off groceries and other items during that four-hour span Saturday at ridiculous prices. He has been known to auction $1 bills for half-price or less.

In cooperation with the Los Gatos auto dealers, the merchants in the shopping center and The Campbell Press are co-sponsoring an auto show on Friday-Saturday-Sunday featuring a display of more than 30 new 1970 models. Still another feature of the gala opening will be a special sidewalk art show presented by an artist group under the direction of Bea Griffin. Further details on pages 5-6-7 of this issue.

It's in Campbell

Now that Campbell's 18-story office building, "The Towers", is a dominating feature of the Santa Clara Valley, it is interesting to note that the big wheels in San Jose are rushing to proclaim it as part of the metropolitan area of San Jose.

Campbell, prior to the advent of "The Towers" had been almost non-existent as far as the big shots of San Jose were concerned. They were so engrossed in building a metropolitan image for their city that they couldn't be bothered by any community on the outside, except to see how they could finagle the communities within the confines of San Jose.

Admittedly when the citizens of Campbell approved the civic improvement bond measures, despite the so-called poor bond climate, and when other municipalities were failing in their efforts, this community gained considerably in stature.

And when the city's bonds were purchased at a fair rate with a number of financial institutions actively seeking the bonds, this city gained a few more notches in the climb for identity and respect.

It has been an open secret for years that many of the hard-core metropolitan drivers in San Jose expected Campbell eventually to give into them and that this city would go out of existence.

The passage of the civic improvement bond issues was strong evidence to all concerned that the people in this community believed in the identity of their community and were proud of it.

But it was not until "The Towers" became an established fact with its girders soaring into the sky that Campbell all of a sudden became the promised land and immediately became part of the metropolitan San Jose without benefit of any christening ceremonies.

We are not arguing that there should be a wall around Campbell to separate it from the San Jose octopus. We are well aware that the boundary lines today are confusing and that San Jose does dominate the valley.

But Campbell existed long before that dramatic tower came into being when this community was unrecognized, unnoticed and unimportant to those outside of it.

We recognize that there could be a need in some instances for a merging of some of the services in some areas to avoid duplication but we maintain also there is a definite need for a small community to keep its self-identity, which would be lost forever if the city were swallowed up by a giant city such as San Jose.

Perhaps our community should feel flattered now that San Jose has deigned to recognize that Campbell does finally exist.

Campbell and the other small cities in Santa Clara County are needed today more than ever before because they provide the last bulwalk against an impersonal "magapolis" attitude which tends to remove people farther and farther away from their local government.

So we really don't mind San Jose taking credit for "The Towers".

But it is still in Campbell.

A deserving tribute

The Campbell Press is pleased to add its commendation, along with so many others, to the tribute paid Mrs. Edith Morley last Friday night by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Morley, who has served on the Campbell Parks and Recreation Commission since its formation and on the parks committee prior to that, is one of those rare and unselfish civic workers who takes outstanding pride in community achievement without any thought of individual gain.

Too often the efforts of these individuals go unrecognized by others and their work is taken as mere matter of course.

That is why we are especially pleased that the BPW this year saw fit to recognize Edith for her outstanding civic work over the past years.

Especially noteworthy is the fact that Mrs. Morley has always done her civic work on a purely voluntary basis.

She believes in her community and is willing to go to bat for it whenever the chips are down.

So congratulations, Edith, for doing a job far and beyond your civic duty.

And keep up the good work.

This community needs you.

which is only natural.

It has been our experience that the female of the species gets mighty involved when it comes to building plans.

Admittedly, however, building a city hall is quite different from building one's own home.

After all, only one family is involved in a home. A city hall is for all the community.

Of course, there is the common denominator in both cases.

Money.

So...just as it is not feasible to build a home in the $50,-000 class when money is only available for a $30,000 job, the same thing holds true for the city.

But more so.

PROBABLY THE STYLE that many people in this area have expressed a desire to see for the city hall would be the early Californian or mission type.

But such styling apparently is more costly than some other more prosaic but functional designs.

Architect Bill Hedley is probably having a heck of a job trying to come up with a design that will satisfy everyone and still stay within the city's pocketbook.

We understand that for want of a better term Hedley designated one of the first sketches of the city hall as "modernistic early Californian".

That should about cover all the bases. And then some.

Next question.

IT WILL BE QUITE strange for some of us "old-timers" around this burg not to find Bill Means in his old stand at the Campbell Drugs.

Bill, for those of you who have tuned in late, has sold his interest in the store to Hal Sofris, a personable young man who is a graduate in pharmacy from the University of Southern California and has been in the pharmacy field in this area for the past 10 years.

Hal plans to continue the same type of quality service that has made Campbell Drugs so successful over the past 13 years.

We imagine that Bill feels somewhat lost now that he is no longer with Campbell Drugs, the store he founded in 1956.

On the asset side, of course, the headaches and problems that go with one operating one's own business can now be forgotten by Bill.

We have long maintained, however, that a druggist has it all over us poor peons in other fields who are plagued with headaches caused by business worries.

A druggist just has to pull a pill off the shelf for relief.

A lot of us are also wondering now that Bill has shed his store whether his golf game will improve appreciably.

Naturally we expect to get more strokes.

IN LAST WEEK'S NEWS story about Bill leaving the Campbell Drugs, it was reported that only a couple of the "old guard" now remain in the local business community (those who have been in continuous operation here for at least 15 years).

Hans Hansen of Taste Good Bakery and Lowell Benson of Campbell Cleaners were the two "old guards" who were named in the story.

At the time we knew we were treading on dangerous ground, for without a comprehensive research, "vital statistics" of such a nature can be upsetting.

Sure enough, one caller pointed out that the "old guard" list should include Frank DeVita of Kopper Kettle, long a landmark for travelers on the "old route" to Santa Cruz and Dr. Wylie (Duke) Morgan, local dentist, and Dr. Paul Werthmann, general medical practioner, as well as Guy Farley, insurance man.

We wonder if we missed anyone else.

But you still can count 'em on one hand - - or two.

Incidentally, as a point of record or something, when Bill Means opened the Campbell Drugs in 1956, after being with Clark's Drugs since 1944, there were only three drug stores in the entire Campbell area.

Now there are 10.

A REAL BIG STEP---Julius Bradshaw, 30, a roofer employed by the B&M Roofing Co.,lights up a cigarette as he awaits the ambulance. He was taken to the Los Gatos-Saratoga Community Hospital after he had fallen from the roof of the theater building under construction at The Prune Yard at Campbell and Bascom avenues.

He said he was walking backward while pulling a wheeled tar-melting pot and walked right off the edge of the roof. He fell about 20 feet and his fall was broken by some loosely stacked 2-by-4s and aluminum ductwork. He suffered a fractured left wrist in the fall.

Police called on drugs cases

Drugs and drug abuse problems concerned Campbell Police officers during the last week, with four different cases requiring police action.

Two Campbell High School youths were discovered nearly unconscious and incoherent after a concerned citizen called police when the two boys collapsed on her front lawn. It was determined that the two had been saving their lunch money to buy drugs.

In another incident three Campbell boys were picked up on Winchester Blvd., transported by truck to Sunnyoaks Ave. where they were robbed, at gunpoint, of $13 after they alledgedly refused to buy drugs from Dennis Heck, passenger in the truck. The three called police who were able to stop the truck after identifying the vehicle as it passed the three boys and the officers while they were being questioned by police. Heck was found to be carrying two weapons and a quantity of drugs.

In a third drug case police answered a resuscitator call and found a man unconscious on the seat of a car and under the influence of drugs.

In another incident a young girl was forced into a car as she was walking on Campbell Ave. in front of 400 E. Campbell Ave. and offered drugs by a man who threatened her with bodily harm when she refused. She managed to escape from the car as it slowed for a corner and called police who were tracing the vehicle involved.

The area was zoned for apartments prior to the city's acquisition.

The Council made two changes in the recommendation of the Planning Commission. The city-owned property for a fire station was specified for public use instead of residential and the parcel adjacent to the park purchased by Lowell Grattan was changed from park to medium density.

On Monday night also the City Council adopted the ordinance which officially established the plan line for the north loop street which will go approximately 295-feet north of Campbell Ave. between Harrison and N. Third St.

By Mason Sacks

But, Officer, I Work Here!
By Mason Sacks

"We young people have much to offer. The government is definitely in need of our vitality, our energy, and our creativity."

These words have undoubtedly been repeated many times, by many different people, and can therefore seem to be rather hollow. Yet recently, when I heard them spoken by a man named William Steiger, they took on real meaning. For William Steiger, a Republican from Wisconsin, is a member of the U.S. House of Representatives; he has held public office since he was 22 years old.

"Being one of the youngest members of Congress," Steiger told me, "can be a problem at times. You have to work harder than most people to be recognized. You have to know when to talk and when not to - which means you spend most of your time listening. But, if you work hard and prove yourself, particularly to the senior members of Congress, there is the opportunity to be very effective."

Don Riegle, Jr. is another of Congress' youngest members. The Michigan Republican was elected to Congress at 28. In a conversation I had with Carl Blake, his Administrative Assistant, I learned that Riegle feels much like Congressman Steiger about being one of the House's "children".

"It can be frustrating at times," Blake told me, "to have to be last in everything because of the seniority system. Just because someone has been around fifty years doesn't mean he's the most talented member of a committee. Sometimes it is just the opposite."

I asked Mr. Blake if there was any advantage at all to being young, age-wise, in Congress.

"Well," he told me, "we feel it can be an advantage when it comes to dealing with constituents. Today, the public mood is constantly changing, with youth often in the forefront. Being young yourself brings you very close to what is happening 'out there' in the cities and suburbs."

I found this similarity of viewpoint of the Congressmen to be rather interesting, particularly since, in political terms, they appear to be quite separated. A case in point is the October 15 Vietnam Moratorium. Congressman Riegle was wholeheartedly in favor of the protest, while Congressman Steiger told me that he was in opposition to both the objective of the Moratorium and to the tactic itself.

On a concluding note, being a young Congressman can also have its lighter moments. "Once I wasn't able to get on the House floor," Representative Steiger told me. "The police officer thought I looked too young; it took me ten minutes to convince him that I worked there."

CUB SCOUTS

Cub Scout Pack 377, sponsored by the Hazelwood Home and School Club, inducted thirty-two new Bobcats last week at their October pack meeting in the cafetorium at Hazelwood School.

Also at this meeting, the seventy-nine boys of Pack 377 and their parents bid farewell to nine former members who graduated into the Boy Scout program, and honored eight boys who had earned the rank of Webelos, the highest rank in Cub Scouting.

The Cub Scout program is for boys, ages 8 through 11. The seventy-nine boys in Pack 377 are divided into eight cub dens and three Webelos dens.

Cecil Kroening, cubmaster and Richard J. O'Donnell, assistant cubmaster, introduced their staff of fifteen den leaders to the parents.

They include Eva Gutierrez, Den Leader Coach, Doris Rausch, Pack Secretary, Carmela Serio, Membership Coordinator, Anne Teboe, Pack Hostess.

Den Mothers are, Donna Bader, Phyllis Reed, Bonnie Guditus, DeAnn Williams, Gerrie Harnden, Lorraine Howard, Carole Thibault, and Norma Krause.

The three Webelos Dens for the 11 year old boys are headed by Norm Collins, Don Guditus and Al Schneider. This years program for the boys in Pack 377 includes costume nights, skating parties, model car races, and a kite flying contest, along with the traditional Cub Scouting individual advancement activities.

To aid in raising money to support this program, the boys are engaged in a light bulb sale that will continue into the first week of November, and have conducted a paper drive on Oct. 24 and 25.

MASS INDUCTION—Pinky Kroening, Pack 377 Cubmaster, inducts a group of the thirty-two new Bobcats into Cub Pack 377 at the October Pack meeting at Hazelwood School. Parents of the new boys were present at the induction as is befitting of the emphasis on family participation in the Cub Scout Program.

Ed Boogaard, student body president, played the part of Mr. Conrad, principal, on "Student Government Day" last Friday, October 25.

The purpose of "Student Government Day" is to promote student interest. Students were chosen for the different positions for the Senior Cabinet.

Other students participating were: Debbie Miller, vice-principal Mr. Bondlie; Jan West, girls' dean Miss Hicks; Dave File, boys' dean Mr. Zelina; Mike Bullier, activities director Mr. Dwyer; Dan Jones, senior counselor Mr. Regent.

KLIV livened up our cafeteria with Westmont's own "Lotion" last Saturday, Oct. 25. The dance was sponsored by Booster Club. Besides the usual soft drinks, Block W also served popcorn and green apples.

Seniors are starting a new thing this year by presenting the first "Class Rally". Students participating in the rally are: Linda Hall, moderator; Bonnie Christianson, Lisa Weisler, Ken Shaver, Judy Clawson, Debbie Clarks, Doug Capilla, Dennis Costra, Roger peterson.

Terry Murdock, Frank Grillo, Joe Avilla, Sherri Evans, Nancy Leonie, Sue Schaffer, Pat Barrens, Charmaine Townsend, Bill Enos, Gay Hagen, Micky Blank, Pat Adcock.

The Seniors hope that the underclassmen will follow suit.

Prospect Pulse

by IVALEE INGRAHAM

Panthers lost their number one standing in the league last Friday when they lost to the Leigh Longhorns 48-14. The Longhorns dominated the game, which was highlighted for the Panthers only in the fourth quarter, when Prospect scored their two touchdowns. This week the Panther gridders clash with Blackford on the Braves' home field. The Friday game starts at 3:00.

Dave Knutson was named as the Best Player-of-the-Week for the Del Mar game two weeks ago.

New class officers have been elected to serve for the first semester. Leading the senior class will be Brian Booth, president; Mickey Anderson, vice-president; Jan Otto, secretary; and Linda Sloan, treasurer.

Junior officers are Debbie Moore, president; Chuck Hyde, vice-president; and Carol Robinson, treasurer. No one ran for secretary.

Freshmen elected Mary Moser, president; Michelle Pautzke, vice-president; Karen Era, secretary; and Denise Ellis, treasurer.

"Best Speaker of the House" was recently awarded to Laura Aronson, junior, at the first Student Congress Tournament at Camden High. Liz Rao and Doug Shoaf, seniors, received a perfect score. All are members of Prospect's Speech and Debate team. Future plans for the team, under the direction of Miss Marie Jones, include a debate held at Blackford on Nov. 15. All students interested in participating should sign up in Room 19.

Key Club members are selling Halloween insurance. The policy costs $1, and entitles the owner to call the club within 24 hours if vandalism occurs to their property. Key Club will clean up such damage as toilet paper and eggs. Officers hope to make $100 on the project.

Los Gatos High leads league

Los Gatos High, after the smoke had cleared from last Friday's grid battles, was still riding high in the standings of the West Valley League with no losses to date in league play.

The Wildcats defeated Blackford 43 to 8 while Leigh was knocking Prospect from the undefeated ranks by a lopsided 48-14 score.

Los Gatos, now the only undefeated league team, meets Branham this Friday. Branham upset Campbell High 20-13 last week and has a 2-2 record, the same as the Bucs.

Prospect, now with a 3-1 record thanks to Leigh, meets Blackford which has won two and lost two.

Campbell High and Westmont meet with Campbell favored as Westmont has yet to win a league game.

Del Mar also with no wins goes against Leigh, while Camden and Saratoga will battle.

In a sensational finish last Friday, Camden scored in the final seconds to win from Westmont 13-12.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Very little is known by the general public about one of the most important facets of the legislative process–the deliberations of joint conference committees of the House and Senate. Committee hearings and Floor debate which precede passage of bills in the House and Senate are usually well publicized. But when there are major differences between House and Senate versions, the final compromises are written in conference behind closed doors.

Recently the Senate debated two and one-half months on a $21 billion military procurement bill. The House Armed Services Committee held six months of hearings on the subject and it was debated in the House of Representatives Chamber for three full days. (Rarely do House debates last longer than one day.)

But the really significant debate is now taking place behind the locked doors of the Old Supreme Court Chamber just beyond the Rotunda on the Senate side of the Capitol. At issue are major programs like the House authorization to revitalize our antiquated Navy, multi-billion dollar weapons systems like the Main Battle Tank and the Sheridan - Shillelagh system, the TOW Anti-tank missile, the Freedom Fighter for export to our allies, a new Navy Fighter to fill the gap left by the failure of the TFX, and "language amendments" which were hastily written into the bill during Senate debate.

Such amendments are claimed as efforts to get the taxpayer more for his defense dollar but usually contribute to the already burdensome surplus of red tape which is driving smaller firms out of the defense business and concentrating more of the defense dollar in the hands of industrial giants who already have too much.

As one of the senior members of the Armed Services Committee, it is my responsibility to participate in this all-important joint conference. We sit around a square table facing well-known figures like Senators Stennis, Margaret Chase Smith, Symington and Thurmond.

For the first two days we merely jousted and talked around every issue. The process is not unlike a labor-management negotiation where, at the outset, each side flexes its muscles and does its best to indicate that it will stand firmly and intransigently for its own position.

Then after this preliminary probing the staffs of the two sides meet informally to explore possible areas of compromise. Later on the negotiators will meet again around the square table and begin to adopt these compromises one by one.

A Joint House-Senate Conference would appear to the inexperienced as undemocratic because it is not subject to public scrutiny, but because it is not, more is accomplished. In contrast to the verbiage uttered during public debate of instant experts who sniff the winds of public opinion and tailor their speeches accordingly, statesmanship prevails in a conference room.

Despite the frustrations of prolonged jousting on those who do the negotiation and despite its seeming violation of democratic principles, a House-Senate Conference is indispensable in the making of responsible and equitable law.

Civilian unemployment drop in state less than hoped

Civilian employment in California moved up to a new high in September, but the drop in unemployment was less than expected at this time of year. This report was issued today by the departments of Industrial Relations and Employment in the Human Relations Agency.

Peak autumn harvest and canning activity in September together with the settlement of some major work stoppages in construction and the opening of the new school year, helped to boost total civilian employment to a record 8,179,000, an upswing of 86,000 from August, according to William C. Hern, Director of Industrial Relations.

Employment this September surpassed September's a year ago by 270,000, or 3.4 percent. While all major groups participated in the over-the-year growth, almost three-fourths of the new jobs were added in trade, services and government.

Manufacturing employment totaled a record 1,744,000 in September, 16,000 above the prior September level. Much of this increase from a year ago, however, occurred in the canning industry, a result of variations in the pattern of the season between last year and this.

The aerospace manufacturing complex continued to be a weak spot in the employment picture. Another sharp cutback between August and September brought employment down to 559,000, some 30,000 fewer than a year ago. By this September, approximately 57,000 aerospace jobs had been lost in the current downtrend that began at the end of 1967, the same number as were lost during the prior downturn that hit bottom in early 1965.

California unemployment fell to 325,000 in September from 379,000 in August, Gilbert L. Sheffield, Director of Employment, announced. The 54,000 over-the-month decline in joblessness reflected the usual withdrawal of students and other summer jobseekers from the labor market. Over the year, unemployment was up by 21,000.

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate* edged up to 4.7 percent in September from 4.6 percent in August and compared with 4.5 percent for September 1968. This is the fourth consecutive month in which the seasonally adjusted rate edged upward

The California civilian labor force, consisting of the employed and unemployed available for work and seeking work, totaled 8,504,000 in September, up from 8,213,000 in September 1968.

*The unadjusted rates were 3.8 percent in September, 4.5 percent in August, 3.7 percent in September 1968.

Mini citizen petitions city for "mini zoo"

A "mini" citizen presented a "Mini Zoo" petition to the Campbell Park and Recreation commission at their last meeting, and the idea is being given serious consideration by the commission.

Appearing before the commission was Miss Terry Watson, 13, who presented a petition signed by 150 adults, requesting consideration for a "mini-zoo" in Rincon Park, that would include animals children could pet, such as deer and rabbits.

Miss Watson was supported by 51 people in the audience who were sympathetic to the zoo idea. It was the thought behind the petition that the zoo could be subsidized through memberships or an admission price.

When questioned by Bill Podgorsek, commissioner, as to how the park would be maintained, Miss Watson replied that the committee felt the city could research the idea.

Miss Watson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Watson, 61 Catalpa Lane. Watson just happens to be a member of the park commission.

Baby sitters seminar opens registration

The third baby-sitters seminar sponsored by the Campbell Fire Department is now well under way, with a fourth being scheduled for January. Tuesday night 50 young people viewed the film, "Tin Pan Fire Drill" and home fire escape procedures with Gene Borden, Campbell Fire Marshal and Captain Arthur Martin lecturing.

The course is open to boys and girls in the Campbell school district between the ages of 11 and 15. The present course of 10 two-hour lectures, held on Tuesday nights in the Campbell High School will conclude on Dec. 16. Approximately 10% of the enrollment is comprised of boys.

Following the completion of the course the baby-sitters are qualified to meet all types of emergencies and are better qualified to handle the many responsibilities connected with caring for small children.

Registrations are now being taken for the next course.

LOOP PROTEST

Dear Sir:

Since we Protestors of the Loop Street Plan were "Chided" in a public meeting on Oct. 13, for not having protested at an earlier time, with the first introduction of the project, and as the item appeared in the Oct. 15th issue of The Press report of the meeting, we feel that we are entitled to answer that criticism.

No one with whom we talked either in our area or elsewhere, thought that after the study had been completed and considered, this Loop St. Plan would ever meet with the majority approval of the Planning Commission, and so there would be no reason for public protests. So none were made.

But as soon as it was known that such approval by the Commission was expected, we began active opposition and a petition, signed by close to a hundred residents affected by the proposed road was presented, and reasons for the opposition given at the public meetings, but which did not affect the decision of either the Planning Commission or the City Council.

Signed - Mrs. Edna F. Smith

College deans get assistant at annual salary of $19,015

The deans of instruction and extended day/summer session of West Valley College will receive assistance as of Nov. 1 when the current administrative assistant to the president assumes new duties as administrative assistant to the two deans at an annual salary of $19,015.

In action Thursday night, the board of trustees appointed Mrs. Betty Tusup to the newly created position.

In September Mrs. Tusup began her second year as administrative assistant to the president. Under the policies of the College she would not have been eligible for reappointment for 1970-71. It is expected that whoever is named to replace Mrs. Tusup in her present position will not assume the duties full-time until the beginning of the 1970 spring semester.

In other action Thursday night, the board:

Granted all employees of the district Friday, Dec. 26 as a special holiday, in accordance with a request from the classified employees association on the campus.

Paid financial claims totaling $285,619.09.

Renewed three-month leases on two district-owned properties located adjacent to the Saratoga campus of the college.

Authorized increasing a part-time clerk in the humanities-fine arts division to full-time and the hiring of one and one-half additional clerks for the extended day division at both Campbell and Saratoga campuses.

Authorized the district to apply for federal vocational educational funds in the amount of $2,400 for consumer-homemaking education to which the district is entitled under the federal Vocational Education Act.

Delayed action on accepting the proposed articles of incorporation and by laws of the college's advisory committee until that committee could review questions raised by the board.

Accepted and authorized the filing of a notice of completion for the relocation of one of the portable buildings, previously on the Campbell campus, on the Saratoga campus as a temporary student center.

County starts mailing 270,000 tax bills Friday

Santa Clara County is ready to start collecting its record $257 million property tax tab.

Finance Director Edward N. Glaeser reports that 270,000 tax bills will be mailed about Oct. 31.

Collections, up $30 million from last year, begin on Nov. 3. Tax bills will include an insert to inform senior citizens of the Property Tax Assistance Law, granting relief to persons over 65 with incomes under $3,350 a year.

The payment procedure eliminates the requirement for the taxpayer to send the entire bill in for payment. Only the stubs should be sent with the payment.

Palo Alto City taxes are now included in the Santa Clara County tax bill.

Also with the bill is information on what share of the tax dollar is received by the County, City, Special Districts and School Districts.

The breakdown:

Schools,	$157.5 million
County,	$ 50.0 million
Cities,	$ 38.2 million
Special Districts	$ 12.2 million

In addition, the County will send a reminder to over 127,000 residents whose taxes are paid through mortgage companies.

These reminders are for information only.

Glaeser recommended that assessments be paid by mail.

A minimum charge of $2 per couple will be used to pay the expenses for the evening and refreshments will be served.

DELEGATE

DENTAL X-RAYS FIND TROUBLE QUICKLY

At most every regular dental examination, your dentist may first want to take a series of X-rays. These X-rays can pinpoint trouble spots before they get to the stage where extensive work is needed or where a painful toothache results.

Even when work is required, the new anesthetics and high speed equipment make it fast and with hardly any discomfort. Many dentists will prescribe a tranquilizer for a patient before their appointment and a pain reliever for use when the anesthetic has worn off. We fill many dental prescriptions and keep the medications they need on hand.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs.

A pleasant association
The difference among S & L's is the service they offer. Everything else is much the same. Colonial has a heritage of service. Our name is a reminder of the days when there were town halls and villages... and you did business with people you knew and trusted. All Colonial offices are dedicated to their communities. Most have been a part of their towns and neighborhoods for many years so the people they serve are friends, not customers... and never numbers. Colonial, you see, believes that there is at least one thing more important than the fact it pays the highest interest on insured savings paid day-in to day-out. And that's upholding its reputation for being a pleasant association.

"It's a Small Small World" at the United Nations Day observance

"It's a small world after all", is more than just a song to a group of determined men and women of all nationalities who meet every weekday morning at Bennett Hall on the Congregational Church of Campbell grounds, 400 W. Campbell Ave.

That the world was indeed represented by the students who are studying "English as a Second Language" was well illustrated last Friday morning when the class observed United Nations Day with song, dance, wonderful food and exhibits brought in by the 45 students of the course.

Under the direction of Mrs. Alice Cox, teacher for the class which is conducted under the auspices of the Metropolitan Adult Education program, students from 22 countries meet to learn more of the basic English needed by them to make their way around the United States. Many are here with their husbands who are being trained by the various big electronic and computer firms making their headquarters in this area, and others are here trying to earn a better living for themselves and their families than they can obtain in their native homes. Whatever the reason, they found a warm welcome in the classroom, and by helping each other learn a second language, they are also helping themselves to have a better understanding of all of the world's problems.

On Friday the students presented a program with representatives from each nationality participating. Many were beautifully dressed in their national costumes and the hall was decorated with displays of native linens, pottery, art work, dolls and remembrances of home.

Following the program a "potluck" luncheon was enjoyed with each student bringing a typical dish from home.

Countries represented in the program included Greece, Italy, Spain, Austria, Russia, Afghanistan, Japan, Hong Kong, Korea, Mexico, Santiago, Chile and El Salvadore. The program concluded with several songs in the various languages and English.

TYPICAL SPREAD--Many interesting linens, pictures and other objects were on display during the United Nations Day observance held at the "English as a Second Language" class. Above is the table with the Grecian display.

MEXICO REPRESENTATIVES--A large group of Mexican nationals presented their songs and dances at the United Nations Day observance held Friday at the "English as a Second Language" class. Many were in their typical colorful native dress.

Children enjoy costume party

Halloween time is party time and among the many parties being enjoyed by children and adults alike was the annual childrens Halloween party sponsored by the Bishop O'Dowd Knights of Columbus council at the council hall on Wedgewood Drive, Saturday afternoon.

Prizes were awarded by Grand Knight Irwin Pasternak and Tony Ferrente, party co-chairman, for several categories including spookiest, won by Ricky Baker who was a skeleton; funniest, Allan Spehar, as Snoopy; best made, Theresa and Evelyn Calleja who were dressed as pioneer women; Elizabeth Carey, in a Grandma costume and Joseph Pierron as an angel who won the cutest costume prize.

In addition to the costume contest the children competed for prizes in musical chairs, nose peanut pushing races and other games. Apple bobbing, a pinata and a haunted house tour were all part of the afternoon festivities, as well as refreshments at the close of the party.

THEY LOOKED SO LOVELY--Miss Jangsook Oh from Korea, who is working as a nurse at O'Connor Hospital, wore her beautiful native dress to the United Nations Day observance held at the Congregational Church of Campbell last Friday. With her was tiny Sonja Pokyo, the daughter of one of the other participants in the program.

FROM THE MIDDLE EAST--Samiha Ahmad from Jerusalem, Palestine, on the left, and Rabia Tokhi from Kbul, Afghanistan, were among the many countries represented at the United Nations Day observance held at the "English as a Second Language" class.

WILL YOU BUY?---Trash and treasures anyone? Shown above are Jean Goodman and Joan Whitman getting all in readiness for the Bohnett Home and School Club Flea Market being held at the school on Nov. 1. There are spaces still available if you call 377-8807. The school is located at 2275 S. Bascom Ave.

CABLE CARS

In the early 1900's there were 10 cable car companies operating in San Francisco, employing 1500 persons.

GREECE WAS ALSO REPRESENTED --- Three lovely ladies from Greece were busily singing with Mrs. Yetta Lepa on the right from Russia as they participated in the United Nations Day celebration at the "English as a Second Language" class.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Salciccia

Do you know when the first Indianapolis 500-mile auto race was run? ...It all started in 1911... It's been run every year since then except for the war years of 1917-18 and 1942-45.

Did you know that the famous Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day race was not always a 500-mile event?... Back in 1916, five years after the "500" was started, the president of the Indianapolis Speedway cut the distance to 300 miles because he felt a 500-mile race was too long to hold spectator interest!

Did you ever realize all the new automobile ideas and equipment that have come about because of auto racing... Over the years it has been the competition in auto races that has developed such things as high compression engines, hydraulic shock absorbers, torsion bars, safer tires, better spark plugs, and better piston rings... So, we can thank auto racing for these and many other advances they have produced that add to the safety and comfort of our present day passenger cars.

West Valley Sports

FOOTBALL

West Valley College football team ranked fourth in the state for two straight weeks, won the sixth game in a row last Saturday night to assure at least the same standing.

Valley will be coming off a great 31-24 comeback win over Contra Costa when they take the field against Solano Saturday night in Vallejo.

At one point, the unbeaten Vikes were trailing the Comets 24-6 but bounced back with four td's to insure a win.

Defense will be the name of the game for the Campbell gridders when they put their 6-0 record on the line against Solano.

Sparking the Vike defensive attack will be a tough line in ends Mike Sharpe and Ron Semons and tackles Pete Maiers and Mike Lombardo, inside linebackers Grant Mayfield and Dave Boreham, and backs Gary Jacobson, Lance Anderson and Steve Malone.

Leading the offensive charge are the Ray brothers, Dave and Larry. Dave has rushed for 825 yards in 152 carries while Larry has notched up 71 points scored. Signal-caller Bill Barnes has tossed 13 scoring aerials while completing 61 of 119 passes for 1101 Yards. Scott Loomis and Stan Hedegard, along with the 1101 yards. Scott Loomis and Stan Hedegard, along with the Rays are the major targets for Barnes.

WATER POLO

Even though the West Valley College water poloists only gave up 26 points to their 24 scored in action last weekend, they could only salvage one win in three outings. Valley lost to the Stanford Frosh 6-3 and Cerritos 12-1 after stunning Marin 20-8.

The Vikings will be out to snap a two-game losing streak Friday in a game with highly ranked Santa Ana Junior College at their home pool. The following day WVC will compete in an Invitational JC-Frosh Tournament.

SOCCER

The Viking soccer team has lost three in a row and have scored only one point in all of those games.

Valley will be looking for their second season win Thursday when they challenge last place Diablo Valley at the cellar-dwellers home field. WVC downed DVC 3-2 earlier this season but since then they have lost three and tied one.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Attempting to salvage a respectable conference record, the West Valley College cross-country squad will journey to Richmond Friday to challenge Contra Costa after winning their first league meet of the year last Friday over Solano.

Valley now holds a 1-2 Camino Norte Conference marking with only CC and DeAnza left on their schedule.

Dan Cruz covered the Fruitvale course on the Saratoga campus of West Valley in 22:12 last Friday to win the race with Solano. The Vikes took nine of the top ten spots in a crushing 15-50 victory.

VIKING GUARD---Andy Jackson, Campbell High graduate, is a guard on the West Valley College football team which is ranked fourth in the state in the junior colleges. Jackson has been recovering from a leg injury suffered early in the season. The vikings play Solano in Vallejo this Saturday night.

WATER POLOIST---Chris Street, one of the shining lights on the West Valley College water polo team.

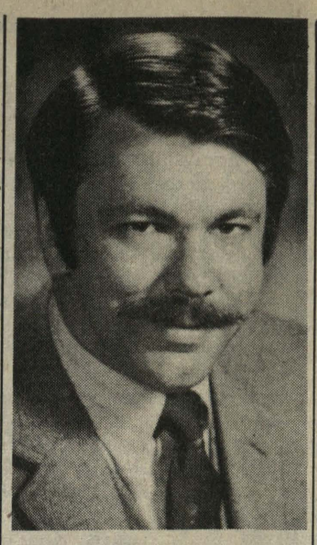
Jay Fox, Woody Romoff, Franklin Kiser and Alexandra Damien along with Miss Cronyn head the cast that includes an all-girl orchestra and a cabaret chorus line. Fifteen musical numbers and six-prize-winning settings grace the full-scale national production.

Tickets are on sale at Wendell Watkins Box Office located at Sherman Clay, 50 N. Winchester Blvd., Santa Clara, 95050. Telephone information may also be had by calling 296-7866.



DRIVE CHAIRMAN---Tony Starbird, San Jose insurance broker, has been appointed county campaign chairman of Muscular Dystrophy's annual fund raising drive, according to Ronald B. Casriel, association chapter president. The fund drive begins in November. Funds will be used to combat this incurable disease of muscles that strikes children and young adults.

Safe Halloween tips offered

John Morgan, Campbell police chief, advanced the following tips to insure a safe Halloween to parents for all children and teen-agers who might be out "trick or treating".

All parents should insist on the "buddy system" or accompany the child themselves. Make sure your child understands that he is not to go inside anyone's house.

Accept only professionally wrapped candy and be sure that the children do not take shortcuts through orchards, fields, backyards or schoolyards.

Set a time limit. One hour should be sufficient, and limit the child to the immediate neighborhood.

Costume should be non-flamable and should be light colored so that the child can be seen. As a last precaution, fathers should be involved. His presence on the street will prevent malicious mischief and possibly deter the child molester who may be lurking in the dark streets.

Four teams play in winter loop at Rincon Park

Campbell Winter League opened last Saturday at Rincon Park with a double-header.

The "Cubs" beat the "Cards" 5 to 4 in the first game while the second game ended in a 2-2 deadlock between the "A's" and the "Tigers".

The Campbell Winter League is composed of 13-year-olds for potential Pony Leaguers and 12-year-old Pony Leaguers. The teams will play each Saturday.

The schedule extends into February with two games each Saturday.

In the Cubs-Cards battle Rich Barry singled in two runs in the bottom of the ninth to give the Cards the victory.

Leading hitters for the Cubs were Pete Fair and Gordy Bender, each getting two hits while Kurt Lizer collected a triple for the longest hit of the game.

In the second game, Don Cox doubled in the bottom of the ninth to score the tying runs after two were out.

Leading hitter was Gary Haney of the "A's" with a triple and double in two tries.

PUMPKINS GROW FOR HALLOWEEN

-- Kindergartners are very much aware that Friday night is the night for Trick or Treat and fun and costumes. Pumpkins and scarecrows are very much a part of the Halloween scene as Kevin Kelly, Linda Smith and Richard Vargas stand in front of their "scene" in the morning kindergarten class at Forest Hill School. The children also just happened to be "birthday children" and were celebrating their birthdays when the picture was taken on Monday.

POSTER ART -- Scarecrows bordered the fourth grade classroom at Forest Hill School as the children prepared for Halloween. Other art projects included clever ghost and witch mobiles hanging in several rooms.
